UCEAP Advising Notes

Objective of the Advising Notes Document

This document is an advising tool written by a Berkeley Study Abroad adviser to review program specific details that may impact a student's decision to apply for an EAP program. The document is not a summary of eligibility requirements, academic, housing, application and other logistical details freely available to students on the UCEAP and BSA website, and reviewed by a student in the Program Self-Assessment. The best source of detailed program information is always the UCEAP Program Guide from the prior academic cycle. If any concerns you have are not addressed on the UCEAP website, in the Program Guide or the Advising Notes document, please contact the BSA adviser for this program.

Note about UCEAP's Programs in Botswana:

This UCEAP program is administered by the Council on International Educational Exchange (CIEE) and the University of Botswana. Two Tracks are available through this program. Students must choose between the Community Public Health track and Arts & Sciences track at the time of application. Students must indicate their choice of track in their application statement of purpose and later when completing their CIEE application.

Competitiveness of the Program

Students who meet the minimum eligibility requirements and submit a well-prepared application with an articulate Statement of Purpose will have a good chance of being selected, but we cannot make guarantees.

Additional Application Materials for CIEE

Students must complete CIEE and host university application materials after their selection to the program by Berkeley Study Abroad. Students should note that the CIEE and host university application will require items that may take additional time to prepare, including, but not limited to, letters of recommendation, official transcript, and passport-size photos. Please do not take action until you have been given detailed instructions for these items by UCEAP.

University of Botswana

Students often notice striking differences between their home educational system and that of the University of Botswana. The University's academic environment is part of the challenge of studying abroad in Botswana. Following the British model of education, this system offers a less structured environment that requires students to take greater responsibility and initiative. Professors expect a great deal of individual study.

Learning by rote is the model most often used in classes. This entails professors reading from notes or books, with the expectation that students copy word for word their recitation. Most University classes are very large, thus making classroom interaction with the professor very rare. For example, lectures may involve as many as 100 students, while tutorials and seminars have smaller class sizes, ranging from 15 to 25 students. The system is geared toward the serious student who is motivated and self-sufficient.

Students must be prepared to assume more responsibility and independence in completing readings, be assessed for a course through a single paper or exam, and be able to seek out assistance from instructors and Botswana students.

Students interested in taking courses alongside Botswana students should note that courses with topics on Africa and Botswana are generally more popular with international students than Botswana. Although not required, students may wish to consider a formal language course in one of the official Botswana languages (e.g. Setswana).

Housing

Most students live in residence halls on the University of Botswana campus. Students typically share double rooms with local undergraduate students. Restrooms and shower facilities are shared. A limited number of study abroad homestays are also available. Students are placed with carefully selected families in the greater Gaborone area.

For students living on campus in the University residence hall, meals are not included in the program fee (except during the one-week rural family stay) and are the responsibility of the student. Students eat at two dining halls on campus and can purchase a meal plan or purchase individual meals. Additional meals can be purchased at local restaurants and cafés. Students living with homestay families receive two meals per day and should budget for daily lunches.

Passport and Visas (Entry Clearance)

Your passport must be valid for at least 6 months after your projected return from abroad. If you do not currently have a valid passport, apply immediately. It will be due to CIEE on April 1.

US citizens do not require a student visa for Botswana. Students must bring a copy of their birth certificate with them to Botswana as it will be needed to apply for a residence permit on site. Although U.S. citizens are not required to have a visa while in Botswana, it is likely that they will need a visa to visit bordering African nations. Non-U.S. citizens should contact the nearest Botswana embassy to inquire about visa requirements for their citizenship.

Scholarships

CIEE offers scholarships and grants based on merit and financial need. Students will have access to the CIEE online scholarship application once they begin their CIEE online application.

US Citizen Pell Grant recipients are encouraged to apply for the Gilman Scholarship, which offers a possible award of up to $5000. For more information, visit gilman scholarship.org

All UCEAP students are encouraged to apply for the UCEAP Promise Award, which offers a $2000 award for semester programs. For more information, visit <http://eap.ucop.edu/Scholarships/Pages/default.aspx?src=sp-nav-scholarships>

Special Demands of the Program

Health and safety remain primary issues of concern for study in Botswana, particularly crime/security, motor traffic, and HIV. Students are responsible for reviewing all informational materials and resources provided by CIEE and UCEAP in order to familiarize themselves with the risks associated with participation. Students should also familiarize themselves with the role of race, gender, sexuality, and religion while studying in Botswana, and develop appropriate expectations according to personal backgrounds and self-identification. LGBTIQ students are invited to reference the UCEAP LGBTIQ Community Resource Page to learn about host country laws and norms.
