Travel Documentation

U.S. Passport Holders

U.S. citizens must have a passport to study abroad in Mexico.

Mexican Passport Holders

Students who are Mexican citizens have no restrictions on applying to UCEAP-Mexico programs and do not need a visa to study in Mexico.

Non-U.S. and Non-Mexican Passport Holders

UCEAP supplies visa forms and information only to U.S. citizens applying to study in Mexico. International students should contact the Mexican consulate to inquire how to apply for a visa to study in Mexico. The UCEAP Office will not supply special assistance to non-U.S. citizens applying for visas.
Language Prerequisites

All students must have documented verification of language acquisition at the college level (grades on college transcripts, AP, IB, or SAT test scores) at the time of application for a program with a Spanish language requirement. Students who do not have academic verification, but believe they have equivalent knowledge, may request a language placement exam by emailing the Mexico Adviser.

You can take prerequisite language courses the semester before your program starts. However, you won’t be cleared for participation on the program until grades are posted.

Students with Disabilities

While in Mexico, you may find accessibility and accommodation very different from what you expect in the US. Mexican law prohibits discrimination against persons with physical, sensory, intellectual, and mental disabilities, however, the law is not effectively enforced. Public buildings and facilities continue to be in noncompliance with the law requiring access for persons with disabilities, as do most hotels and other tourist facilities.

Review how to request disability related accommodations on the I am a Student with a Disability page.

LGBTQIA+ Identifying Students

Threat to safety in the LGBTIQ community is low. Societal tolerance ranges from mixed tolerance to tolerant. The LGBTIQ community enjoys legal protections in Mexico. However, discrimination based on sexual orientation and gender identity remains, including sporadic reports of violence targeting LGBTIQ individuals. Exercise discretion in identifying publicly as LGBTQI.

Field Research in Mexico

How Study Abroad Helped Me Embrace The Complexities of All My Identities
Elisabet Raquel García

Early Start Date

This program starts during the summer and it is not possible to arrive late to the program because of a job, internship or other summer school coursework commitments.

Academics

This program offers a set menu of courses. It is not possible to take any additional courses or substitute any other coursework. The first three courses, Intensive Spanish, Contemporary Mexico and Research Methodology, are offered in the first five weeks of the program while the students are in Mexico City. The fourth course, the Field Research Project, is offered during the last 9 weeks of the program while students are at the field research sites.

Research Projects

It is possible to do a field research project in almost any field of study. Students are assigned a mentor to provide support for their research project. It may be possible to extend from the fall Research in Mexico program to the Spring UNAM semester if they have a 2.75 or higher cumulative GPA.

National Autonomous University of Mexico - UNAM

Fall/Year Early Start Date

The fall and year UNAM program starts during the summer and it is not possible to arrive late to the program because of a job, internship or other summer school coursework commitments. There is a mandatory Intensive Language Program for the first five weeks of the program for students with all levels of Spanish (including heritage speakers). Students will be tested when the program starts and placed into an appropriate level of Spanish.

Spring - UC GPA Required

Students applying to the spring UNAM program must have a UC GPA at the time of application.

Application

Students must submit a letter of recommendation written by a college instructor in the UCEAP application that is on UC Berkeley letterhead and is signed by the writer. Please request this well in advance of the program deadline.
Students must write a statement of purpose in Spanish for the UCEAP application and a statement of purpose in English for the Berkeley Study Abroad application.

Academics

Students may only apply to one facultad (department) and take courses within that facultad. If you are a double major and need to take courses in more than one facultad, you must request this very early after being selected for the program. It may be too late to accommodate this if you wait until the program starts. All courses are instructed in Spanish, and all coursework is in Spanish.

UNAM is a very large university with a history grounded in student activism. Berkeley students have reported an interactive and dynamic learning style in the classroom and lively student life/activism that occurs outside the classroom. Please note that student strikes occur regularly which may lead to changes in course availability throughout the semester and in these cases, Casa de California staff work closely with students to make alternative academic arrangements.

Internships

Students interested in an internship work with the Casa de California staff to identify an internship placement after they arrive in Mexico City.

Leadership in Social Justice and Public Policy in Mexico City and Sacramento

This program is a combination of the UNAM Fall Semester and a Spring Semester in Sacramento, CA at the UC Sacramento Center, where students do an internship and take courses.

Early Start Date

This program starts during the summer and it is not possible to arrive late to the program because of a job, internship or other summer school coursework commitments. There is a mandatory Intensive Language Program for the first five weeks of the program for students with all levels of Spanish (including heritage speakers). Students will be tested when the program starts and placed into an appropriate level of Spanish.

Application

As part of the UCEAP application for this program, students must upload a completed UC Sacramento application as well. This application has many steps and requires you to work with multiple offices on campus. It takes time to complete so be sure to start early.
Students must submit a letter of recommendation in the UCEAP application that is on UC Berkeley letterhead and is signed by the writer. Please request this well in advance of the program deadline.

Students must write a statement of purpose in Spanish for the UCEAP application and a statement of purpose in English for the Berkeley Study Abroad application.

Academics
This leadership program has a focus on Latinx and US/Mexico bi-national issues, starting with coursework at the top University in Mexico and a bridging Leadership course, followed by a semester of political science coursework and an internship experience in the U.S. In Spring semester, students take the Calif. Policy Seminar, an independent study course in political science theory, during the spring term. Students also meet with a mentor who will supervise the preparation of an extensive paper relating the internship and experiences in Mexico to the concepts, literature and theory of political science. This is an excellent program for students interested in pursuing public policy, social change work, and growing their professional skill set and network.

Internships
In the Spring semester, students are placed in an internship with the assistance of the UC Sacramento staff that is tailored to students’ backgrounds, skills and career goals.

Contemporary Mexico

Berkeley Stories - Natalie M, Summer in Mexico City
This program is for students with any level of Spanish language who wish to study Spanish, history & culture. Three sections of Spanish are offered for beginners, intermediate and advanced/native speakers. Students participate in excursions to places like the Pyramids, the Xochimilco floating gardens and to the Bellas Artes Concert Hall.

Global Health in Mexico

This program allows you to interact with communities to better understand social conditions that affect local health. It operates in Puerto Escondido, Oaxaca, a sleepy beach town. It is run by Child Family Health International and the Oasis Language School. The program includes a Spanish Language for Health course, a practicum in the health field, a homestay, cultural activities and site visits. The practicum experiences take place at a public health center and are focused on child and maternal health. This is a great option for students seeking practical global health experience on a local-level and to increase their medical Spanish language skills. This program has a limited number of spaces and may become competitive if we receive more applications than there are spaces available.

Applications for the Global Health in Mexico program are taken on a first come, first serve basis since the program has a limited number of spaces available. If you are interested in this program, you are encouraged to apply quickly.
